

Matt Skoda; Cordell Winter; Kai Foster; Timmy Breaton

The Cordell Winter Band is an up-and-coming band in "Music City" Nashville, Tennessee, writing and performing their original songs composed with a strong rock ethos. Fronted by lead vocalist and performer, Cordell Winter and anchored by rhythm section and co-founders of the band, drummer Matt Skoda and bassist Kai Foster, the band provides an energy and excitement that harkens back to the rock era.

While the band has added new talent, its founding musicians have been active in various musical endeavors to include earlier bands and solo projects. Cordell Winter is a longtime national touring artist with a brand-new sound that blends the social and spiritual sense of rock music from the 1960s & 1970s while drawing comparisons to bands such as The Doors, Led Zeppelin and Rolling Stones, while their masterful playing and high energy shows draw further comparisons to Guns N Roses, Red Hot Chili Peppers and Aerosmith to name a few.

He has been mentored by the likes of Kid Rock and produced by multi platinum producer Malcolm Springer, founder and producer of Matchbox 20 and Collective Soul. He has toured with bands such as Slaughter, bands as unforgettable as Billy Gibbons, Skid Row, Quiet Riot and Lita Ford, played top tier shows and festivals such as Milwaukee's Summerfest, and road hustled crowds with the Grateful Dead, all the while being admired by musicians as profound as his friend Loretta Lynn herself, amongst others.

Founding members Matt Skoda and Kai Foster have played together for over five years and demonstrate that the inherent link between bass and drums provides that foot stomping beat while clearly making the audience rock it out. Skoda has been mentored by the likes of Rich Redmond of Jason Aldean's band, Troy Luccketta of Tesla and 3 Doors Down drummer, Greg Upchurch.

With the addition of Timmy Breaton on guitar and backing vocals, the band completes their fresh sound with a rock soul. And while the current project offers up a new brand, it is hardly a new band. They have played extensively throughout the southeast while also writing and releasing their own music across all streaming platforms.

The band's journey now continues as they write and produce new music, perform throughout the US and work to invigorate a renewed sound of rock music that blends today's social messages with the feel of yesterday's musicianship. All the while offering fans the intensity of their performance and reason to listen!

The Cordell Winter Band is signed and represented by Iron Gate Records and their music is distributed by Universal Music.
